

Legal Advisor

We're looking for an excellent Legal Advisor to join our Trust business in Zurich.

You'll be providing legal advice to our business on a range of key issues – from broad expertise on frameworks such as FATCA and the Automatic Exchange of Information, through to the specifics of contract and data protection law.

Reporting to our Head of Legal, you'll be responsible for monitoring developments in the regulatory, legal and tax environment, in Switzerland and internationally.

At the heart of the role, you'll be helping the Trust business maintain the highest standards of compliance. That might be influencing our strategic response to new legislation, or providing legal support to a project team adapting our systems, processes and working practices.

About us

At Rothschild & Co, we've been safeguarding assets since the 1760s. As a family-controlled firm for seven generations, we know the issues wealth owners must address. We help them protect against what often goes wrong.

To do that, we look beyond narrow legal and technical issues, so that clients can strengthen their business and family relationships.

As part of a global and independent financial advisory business, we employ over 150 wealth planning and trust professionals, mostly in Europe and Asia.

Our Trust business offers a powerful combination. Senior industry veterans recognised as world leaders. Working alongside exceptional wealth planners. In an environment of constant learning. Where ideas and experience are freely exchanged.

About you

- One of the best in your peer group
- University degree in law; bar exam is desirable
- At least five years of relevant experience in the financial industry
- Good understanding of tax topics such as the Automatic Exchange of Information and FATCA
- Clear, confident and fluent communicator in English. German is desirable but not essential
- Strong analytical skills and focused on results

How to apply

Please send your CV by email to Barbara Ursprung, Human Resources.

barbara.ursprung@rothschildbank.com